

The Array is an aluminum alloy-made headlamp designed for runners.

While offering an incredible 400 lumens output, it is super compact and lightweight. The Array has a light source of two LEDs that provide either independent close-range beam or a close and far mixed beam.

The built-in 2000mAh rechargeable Lipo battery is charged with Olight's signature USB magnetic charging cable. The inserted red light-emitting ring of battery pack will be open in synchronization with the headlamp, which is visible in the dark and provides a safety guarantee. The Array is a headlamp that offers convenient and comfort to all users.

With a brightness of up to 400 lumens and a variety of lighting modes, the Array is ideal for camping, fishing, climbing, and any other adventures that take you out past dark.

Made of lightweight aluminum alloy material with a super-compact waterproof structure, it is comfortable and adjustable, you may forget you're wearing it.

The updated magnetic charging cable is super convenient to use, feel free and effortless with this reliable illumination kit by your side.

The built-in 2000mAh rechargeable Lipo battery supports a runtime up to 13 hours for on-the-go continuous use.

The smart battery indicators can help to keep you updated of the power status, and automatically enter to taillight mode with blink for safety guarantee in addition.
